I prepared my Fulbright application documents with Teacher Jacey, and even amidst a tight schedule, her constant positive encouragement that "you can definitely do it" was a huge source of strength. I was truly grateful for the unsparing help she spared no effort to ensure I could successfully complete my application. She didn't stop at simply correcting grammar errors or refining sentences; she accurately understood what I wanted to say and expressed it in sentences that sounded natural and smooth to a native speaker. In particular, she asked many diverse questions to uncover stories that would captivate the reader, and thanks to her, I was able to recall and include valuable experiences in my application that I hadn't even considered important. I am truly grateful to Teacher Jacey for being such a reliable presence during this tight and daunting preparation period!

Hello. First of all, I am planning to pursue a Master's degree in Business in the U.S. starting this fall semester. Thanks to EngGol, I was able to keep challenging myself without getting discouraged and successfully gain acceptance. I first learned about EngGol through a free webinar on preparing for an overseas Master's program. After the lecture, I was impressed by the systematic preparation methods and the CEO's passion, so I decided to join. Thanks to the preparation guidelines, I was able to stick to the timeline and prepare without missing a single task. Most importantly, EngGol helped me acquire the English skills necessary for the Master's program. I prepared for TOEFL Speaking with

I took a speaking class because there was a speaking test in my university English liberal arts course. Before class, I uploaded the test format, related materials, and a list of 예상 questions. The instructor led the class by posing questions and continuously asking detailed questions to allow me to elaborate on answers that seemed insufficient. During the lecture, once I finished answering a question, the instructor would substitute it with more natural English expressions, and since it was a speaking test, they also corrected my pronunciation regarding difficult academic terms. Receiving the feedback written down during class was helpful for reviewing and practicing. Additionally, after class, the instructor asked whether the test was in a discussion or debate format and offered to write an outline for me to review before the exam, which I believe will be of great help in my preparation.

Success Story of Moving to the US

Hello. I am writing this review now that I have received my offer letter today. After immigrating to the U.S., I was worried about my career in Korea coming to a halt, so I prepared for graduate school. This led to a need for more money and, consequently, a job. Through Engool, I prepared for interviews in a diverse and in-depth manner. My experience in Korea was fully recognized, and I ultimately received a job offer for a Senior position in the U.S. I recommend Engool for three reasons: 1. The instructors' expertise, 2. The quality of the content, and 3. Learning support (which includes mental support as well). For interview expertise, I recommend Krystle.D. For handling interview situations effectively, I recommend the three tutors: Jacey C, Caelan W, and Lia. With Krystle.D, we set up two slots the day before the interview for the first time. We practiced with a new instructor with a sense of tension, just like a real interview, and he was incredibly accurate. An interview requires you to appear as a candidate the interviewer wants to work with, in addition to your professional expertise. He helps you identify that charm within a short time and present yourself naturally. Jacey C and Caelan provided very detailed guidance on writing my resume and responding appropriately to various situations from an applicant's perspective. 2. Interview and Business Content: There are a vast number of high-quality questions and topics

I recommend the tutor who is kind and explains things step-by-step.

Hello, I am a student taking speaking classes to get more comfortable speaking English. I met Tutor Jacey, and I am writing this review to recommend her! Throughout the class, Tutor Jacey guides me to feel comfortable answering. Since I am not the type to respond quickly to unexpected questions, she patiently waits for me even when it takes a while to think of an answer. If my response is short, she skillfully encourages me to keep talking with follow-up questions or hints. I also appreciated that she meticulously noted down grammatical errors and alternative expressions for frequently repeated phrases while listening to me, pointing them out one by one. It was also great to share thoughts on the content together! I have taken both free-talking and topic-selecting classes, but I am currently doing so because choosing a different topic each time allows me to learn new expressions. I highly recommend

I applied to a total of 7 master's programs (applying evenly to both research-oriented and practice-oriented programs).
Majors Applied To: Data Science, AI Results: Boston University (Master of Data Science, $10,000 Scholarship), UC Irvine (Master of Data Science), UCLA (Master of Engineering), University of Florida (Master of Science, CS) Selection: UCLA Meng Data Science Background: Zero acquaintances with experience as international students, zero relatives in the U.S., language study experience in Canada + a Korean who loves English (no aversion to English!) Current Background at the Time of Application: 2nd year developer at an IT company Through Engool, which I discovered by chance, I was able to take one step closer to my dream. Thank you! Journey with Engool: 0. I highly recommend attending the study abroad/foreign company seminars hosted by Engool if you have the opportunity. There, I was able to identify which areas I should seek help with from the instructors in the future, as well as what I needed to do on my own in advance (contacting professors, selecting schools, etc.). 1. I prepared for the Fulbright scholarship because I wanted to experience the admissions journey in advance. I primarily took classes with

Teacher Jacey, who was a great help in preparing for the Fulbright application.

Hello. I started taking Jacey.C's class by chance, and now I am learning English so enjoyably that I look forward to every lesson. Most importantly, instead of sticking to a fixed method, the teacher carefully assesses my preferred learning style and current proficiency level, providing customized lessons focused on the areas necessary for improvement. They help me naturally improve my weaknesses and encourage me to be confident in my strengths, allowing me to participate in class without any pressure. I also appreciate that the class isn't just about memorizing expressions, but teaches many expressions and speaking methods that can be used in real-life situations. The class atmosphere is always comfortable and fun, so my nervousness about speaking English is gradually decreasing. I am even more satisfied because I learn a lot of new material in every lesson and feel like I am making progress little by little. I would like to recommend Jacey.C's class to anyone who finds studying

I appreciated that you taught me various expressions and sentence structures to help me express my answers more naturally and persuasively, rather than just focusing on conversation in English. In particular, it was incredibly helpful in practice to immediately suggest more natural expressions based on what I said and explain why those expressions were more appropriate. I also enjoyed practicing how to logically express my thoughts in English while discussing competition, anonymity, and fairness through the interesting topic of Netflix's Culinary Class Wars. Teacher Jacey listened attentively to me and kept the conversation flowing naturally, allowing me to express my opinions in English without feeling pressured. I look forward to further improving my English skills by engaging in in-depth conversations on various topics in the future. Thank you for giving me such positive energy right from the first lesson! :)

Hello. Before we begin, I would like to mention that I already worked at a foreign company and possessed business English skills. I am comfortable speaking with foreigners and tend to express myself well; however, I strongly felt that while I could convey 100% of what I wanted to say, I was only able to communicate about 60-70% in English. But through consistent study with Teacher Jacey C, my ability to speak English has reached at least 80% of my Korean proficiency. First of all, if you state your English goals, Teacher Jacey C provides excellent feedback tailored to them. I also learned many expressions that are easy to use but sound more sophisticated due to subtle nuances, allowing me to summarize things with just one or two words without having to speak at length. My primary goal was to speak natural,

Dear Jacey,

The Office for Diversity and Multicultural Education has reviewed your proposal and we are pleased to inform you that you will be awarded $250.00 in grant funds from the Pope Foundation for your Division Internship at D'vine Hope Family Child Care Center in Boston.

Although income taxes will not be withheld from the Office for Diversity Grants, portions of the grant may be considered taxable income by the IRS, depending on how you use the money. You will not receive a W-2 or 1099 form from Hampshire College for this grant. Generally, a scholarship or fellowship is not taxable if (1) you are a degree candidate at an eligible educational institution, and (2) the amounts you receive are used for required tuition and fees or required course materials, and are not received as payment for your services. Portions of the grant used for other expenses, such as room and board, are considered taxable income. For more information, see topics 355, 421, or Publication 970 on the IRS web site (www.irs.gov).

If you have any questions or concerns, please contact our office at 413.559.5379 or you can e-mail me directly at jjeffery@hampshire.edu.

Sincerely,

Dear Jacey,

The School of Cognitive Science has reviewed your proposal and budget for a research grant, and is pleased to allocate you $700.00 for the expenses of your project, "Speaking our Truths: Education Community Gathering." This grant will end on Dec. 10, 2020.

This award will be paid to you as reimbursements for your expenses. Please submit multiple receipts rather than sending in one receipt at a time (unless the purchase was expensive). The receipts must be original, or the actual receipt-with purchasing information-from online sellers (not just the confirmation page). You must also complete a risk management waiver at <https://riskmgmt.mtholyoke.edu/waivers/login.php?t=1>. This waiver must be completed before any reimbursements are fulfilled.

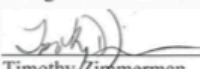

We ask that you submit a 1 page mid-progress report by May 10, 2020, and a final 1-2 page report to Kelsey Finnell (kafNS@hampshire.edu) by Dec 10, 2020. Here are some suggested guidelines on what to include in your reports:

1. Your mid-progress report should present the states of your project you have completed to date (including people you have worked with, events you attended, stages of projects completed, challenges encountered so far, if you expect the project to continue as planned).
2. Your final report will present an overview of what you have learned based on your original proposal, what challenges you encountered, your results, what you learned in the process of being a researcher, and how your findings reflect where you want to take your project career or future.

I encourage you to submit photos and/or videos of yourself taken during your project as a way to promote the CS Research Endowment to the Hampshire community and beyond. Your reports and supporting documents may be shared with the college development offices for their reports to donors and may be used for college promotional materials. In addition, you may be asked to present your research project at the CS Wednesday Lunch Talk. Please acknowledge support by 'The School of Cognitive Science Research Endowment at Hampshire College' in all your presentations or publications resulting from your research.

Lastly, please be aware that all equipment and unused supplies purchased with the grant become the property of Hampshire College upon completion of your grant.

Congratulations! We look forward to hearing about your work.
